

when you PLAY

While the weather's so warm, enjoy some water play with your child. In the backyard pool or in the bathtub, let your child tell you the stories they have heard this month about Jesus and water.

when you DRIVE

Play a game of "Who has more power?" As you drive, point out things that you see and ask your child who is more powerful. As you pass a big building, ask your child who is more powerful than a big building. As the sun shines in the sky, or a storm comes up, ask who is more powerful than the sun and the weather. Remind your children that Jesus is more powerful than anything.

when you RELAX

For prayer time, sing "We Love You Lord". (If you don't know it, your child can teach you!) This tender song praises Jesus because He is amazing, voices our love for Him, and asks Him to be with us every step of the way.

PARENT TIME

Again this month, our stories all point to Jesus' power. By healing, providing, calming the storm and walking on water, Jesus showed that He was no ordinary man. He was God's son!

It's so important for our children to hear these stories at this phase of life. Right now, their capacity for faith is at its peak. They are most likely to believe what they are told. And while their little minds are growing and absorbing, we have the opportunity to establish essential truths. So we make the most of this preschool phase, filling their hearts with stories of Jesus, and modeling our own faith in His power.
